

January 2015

Fellow History Lovers,

The year 2015 marks the end of the sesquicentennial of the U.S.'s bloodiest conflict. If the 150TH anniversary of America's Civil War has you wanting to learn more, I have four suggestions for you.

First, attend a meeting of the Civil War Round Table of St. Louis. Our meetings bring Civil War history to life.

Second, read the book The Civil War in St. Louis by Round Table member, William C. Winter. It is available in the St. Louis County Library system.

Third, visit the Missouri Civil War Museum at Historic Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis. It is an awesome museum in a beautifully renovated building.

Fourth, take a trip to Fort Davidson State Historic Site in Pilot Knob or visit Wilson's Creek National Battlefield outside of Springfield.

Enjoy your studies of The Civil War!!!
