Civil War Trivia

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Samuel F.B. Morse, artist and inventor of the “Morse Code,” suggested that “Old Glory” be divided in half diagonally, from the upper hoist to the lower fly, with the upper half to be used by the North and the lower half by the South, each side replacing the missing portion with a white field, thus symbolizing the sundering of the old nation and expressing hope for its eventual reunification. This and other proposals to remove the “seceded” stars from the “Stars and Stripes,” were all quashed by Lincoln, who pointed out that the states had never left the Union.
