Civil War Trivia

Union General Franz Sigel, who's name helped recruit thousands of German Americans in St. Louis to fight for the North, would forever be remembered as commander of the Union force defeated at the Battle of New Market, in part by the famous charge of VMI students. He would later move to Bronx, New York and there, died in 1902, still a hero to German Americans. His funeral was attended by thousands and there was a Bronx city park named in his honor. (See photo of park above).
